

Our brand WeltSparen is the leading online marketplace for fixed term deposits and is growing rapidly. Our partner banks from all over Europe offer significantly better interest rates and we have already attracted several thousand customers. WeltSparen is backed by Index Ventures, one of the most successful European venture capital firms, and supported by thought-leading board members of banks and top management consultants.

We offer working in a fast-paced and learning-orientated environment right in the heart of Berlin. You will take full responsibility of your tasks from day one and work in a relaxed and fun atmosphere. An experienced and ambitious team with a great spirit frames the work life and if you want to improve your table-soccer-skills, welcome to our team! If you are looking for a challenge in a fast-growing start-up – we look forward to your application as

PRODUCT OWNER EUROPE (M/W)

Place of work: Berlin
Starting date: as of now / upon agreement
Employment condition: full time

Your responsibilities

As Product Owner Europe you are responsible for preparing and developing the WeltSparen platform for the roll-out to other European countries in close collaboration with the CTO, Head of Europe, and VP Product. As such your role will be a mix of technology, process & product management and new market development. You participate in the development and execution of the European product strategy analyzing and implementing customer needs as well as market and legal requirements in a regulated environment. You have a hands-on approach to developing detailed user stories, technical requirements, and concepts.

Your profile

You have a degree in economics, computer science, business informatics or comparable areas with experience in product management and a good technical understanding. You are experienced in agile software development and product discovery. You proactively use your creativity to explore and develop new business models and functionality. Moreover, you are a team player with excellent analytic and conceptual skills and you have a strong focus on customer needs. You feel comfortable working in an international set-up having excellent language skills in English and ideally another major European language.

Please send your application incl. CV and possible start date to: karriere@savingglobal.com.

Berlin, January 2015